How's your breath today?

You say that it's impossible. Not so! How do you know that it's the very minute you haven't a case of halitosis (unpleasant breath)? Your bridge partners will spot it instantly.

The obvious truth is that everybody is a victim of halitosis at one time or another. You can understand why when you realize that halitosis may be caused by a few Listerine food particles stuck by the tooth brush. Or by a mouth that is beginning to decay. Or by a tooth filling. Or by an artificial tooth—or tooth. And of course, excessive eating and drinking.

Why be in doubt about the condition of your breath? Why risk social disaster when by simply rinsing the mouth with Listerine you can instantly render the breath sweet and agreeable?

Listerine helps fermentation, reduces decay, checks a doctor—It causes of odors—then overcomes the odors themselves.

Don't expect positive and pleasant results from ordinary mouth washes. Repeated tests have shown that they correct halitosis in 12 hours, much faster than Listerine overcomes instantly. Listerine Pharmaceutical Company, Toronto, Ont.

My Four Years in Russia

I believe that I have not a single day in my life that I have not spent in the most interesting and most instructive manner. I have not a single day in my life that I have not spent in the most interesting and most instructive manner.

I have not a single day in my life that I have not spent in the most interesting and most instructive manner. I have not a single day in my life that I have not spent in the most interesting and most instructive manner.

Another point to be considered is that there are 117 different languages spoken in Russia. It is not a single day in my life that I have not spent in the most interesting and most instructive manner.

“Easier now to keep my children clean than when I had three,” ... says this young and charming mother

Here's an interesting thing. When Mrs. L. H. Roche had only three children, her washings were a problem. Now, with five lively youngsters to wash for, she doesn't worry a bit. She's using a different laundry soap—CHIPSO!

"Would you like to know how I got started with Chipso?" Mrs. Roche asked. "It was seven years ago. I was fussing about how quickly the children's clothes got shabby looking, how hard the laundry was to do, how sore and dry the soap made my hands. My mother said, 'Why don't you try Chipso?' Well, I did—and since then I've used nothing else.

"No matter how dirty the children's play clothes get, I don't need to wear them out with hard rubbing. Chipso soaks the dirt out easily. Yet Chipso suds are perfectly safe for dainty organdies and printed silks, and for my silk underwear and stockings. Chipso is marvelous for blankets, too—makes them so soft and fluffy—and for the children's woolen stockings. And, believe me, my hands have known new comfort since I've used Chipso regularly for washing clothes and dishes."

Chipso's kindness to your hands proves that it is not adulterated with the harsh "dirt-cutting" ingredients that weaken materials and injure colors. Chipso makes an easy job of the dirtiest clothes, yet is SAFE for lovely, dainty things, because Chipso is SOAPIER. It makes RICHER SUDS.

That inexpensive big box of Chipso is the best package-soap value you can get—it does so much work and does it safely. Use Chipso for dishes, too, for your hands' sake. Get Chipso from your grocer.

Chipso makes clothes wear longer
